Wesley Enhanced Living and Stapeley In Germantown Sign Affiliation Agreement
Stapeley will Join Seven Other WEL Retirement Communities

Southampton, Pa., and Philadelphia, Pa., April 1, 2010 - Today, Wesley Enhanced Living (WEL) announced that Stapeley In Germantown (Stapeley), a non-profit continuing care retirement community (CCRC) provider, became part of the Wesley Enhanced Living organization.

Stapeley, a 230 unit community, provides independent living, personal care, dementia care, and skilled nursing services on a five acre campus located in the historic Germantown section of Philadelphia. WEL operates retirement communities throughout Philadelphia, Montgomery, Bucks, and Monroe counties, serving over 1,000 residents in their seven communities.

“We are honored to enter into this agreement with Stapeley – a longstanding respected provider that has ministered to the housing and healthcare needs of the Germantown elderly for over a hundred years. This affiliation furthers our mission and commitment to serving the needs of the senior population throughout the city of Philadelphia, and we look forward to what we can accomplish together,” said Jeff Petty, President and CEO, Wesley Enhanced Living.

"It is rare when two organizations with such a dynamic history and commitment to excellence have the opportunity to come together. We are very fortunate to have partnered with WEL who so closely mirrors our mission and dedication to Philadelphia area seniors," said David Johnson, Executive Director, Stapeley In Germantown.
