

Seniors host art show, sale

Senior citizens from Central Bucks County gathered as Heritage Towers continuing care retirement community kicked off the Central Bucks Senior Center Art Show and Sale May 1.

The art show and sale, featuring original artwork from more than 30 senior citizen artists from the Wesley Enhanced Living and Central Bucks Senior Center, will be on display at Heritage Towers through May and honors Older Americans Month.

A ribbon cutting was led by Doylestown Mayor Libby White with guest artist Fran Leyenberger of Cracked Pots Studio.

More than 100 pieces of art are on display or for sale including paintings, drawings, needlework, photography and sculptures. The show is open 11 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Residents Margaret Morse, left, and Gladys Miller admire featured artwork.

